Fund Review and Strategy

At the end of August, the Fund's assets stood at approximately GHS 1.3 billion. The Fund delivered a year-to-date return of 27.3% on the main class and 11.9% on the sub-class, against a benchmark return of 13.7%. The overall Fund's exposures were 82% in money market instruments and 18% in Government bonds. The Fund will continue prioritizing short-term income and liquidity by investing in a combination of money market securities.

Market Overview

Despite August's treasury auction undersubscriptions, which underscores a shift in investor preferences, the relative stability in treasury bill yields suggests that the reprieve from short-term borrowing costs may have bottomed out. Should the government's re-entry into the local bond market offer attractive pricing, it may reignite investor participation, providing both a yield cushion against future rate volatility and a boost to market liquidity. We expect inflation to maintain its downward trajectory, albeit at a slower pace, supported by fiscal discipline, a tight monetary policy stance, relative currency stability, and broader macroeconomic improvements. However, uncertainties around possible tariff adjustments and renewed currency pressures remain key downside risks that could temper the pace of disinflation.
